For the first time, the AMMM members organise the first edition of the Workshop Day, a gathering focused on providing professional dialogue and offering a space to work on specific programs or projects developed within AMMM.

The meeting will be divided into different working groups in order to manage time effectively during these two days. In the morning groups will work simultaneously, and in the afternoon, all members will gather together so as to report, exchange information and decide jointly on working plan / future actions related to each group's work.

If you choose to work in one working group, but at the same time you have some kind of constructive contributions to subjects of other working groups, you are kindly invited to contact the group coordinator of the specific group and send her/him your suggestions or materials of any kind (articles, presentations, ideas briefs...).
